

Living with Uncommon Vision

Marilene Isaacs

by Thomacine Haywood

Marilene Isaacs knew as a child that she was what many would call "different." The Indianapolis intuitive counselor and healer possessed what Webster's Dictionary describes as a paranormal power of hearing or seeing information beyond the scope of natural vision and hearing—clairvoyance and clairaudience.

A native of Connersville, she recalls as a kid feeling an almost magnetic pull toward people who were sad or in pain and an overwhelming desire to help ease that pain.

Then there were the memories that no one could explain. Why could she remember her birth and times before when no one else could? Why could she see the multicolored mists around people that she later learned were called auras? And why could she recall detailed information about time periods that she had no way of knowing about?

"I remember being very lonely, like somehow I got trapped here. And I would (jokingly) ask my parents 'Did you adopt me?'" she said. Life was sometimes difficult as Marilene and the adults in her life tried to understand her intuitive abilities.

Today, after nearly 35 years of using her mystical abilities, she blesses those early struggles for helping her grow into her identity.

"Lots of people become psychic because they had a near-death experience or hit their head. Not me, it's something I have integrated into my life," she said.

Integrating her gifts as a lifelong process made her superbly confident to pursue a very public career as a psychic reader. She has appeared on several national and local TV programs, having produced and hosted three of her own live call-in shows - The Consciousness Connection (aired statewide on PBS), The Psychic Connection and The Marilene Show (both local). She has appeared as a regular guest on the Bob and Tom Show and was chosen "Best Psychic" in 2004 by Indianapolis Monthly readers.

"I can hear a person's voice and get immediate information. To maintain the integrity of the show, I insisted that people from the station take calls, so people could be sure it wasn't someone I knew (on the other line.) That way I could prove how it is, the authentic side of that world," she said.

Her abilities expand beyond readings to include what is sometimes termed "spiritual healing." Isaacs uses a unique "laying-on-of-hands" method developed largely through Divine guidance. She calls this form of healing being a "conduit between heaven and earth" and has used it to assist autistic children, animals (wild and domestic) and people with health problems, emotional issues and addictions. She also assists those who wish to communicate with deceased loved ones.

A true mystic, Marilene lives what she believes and teaches. Her clients come from all over the world and include many celebrities, politicians and religious leaders. She is available for private and group sessions as well as weekly classes, meditations, special ceremonies and speaking events.
